

ABSTRACT

A communication system (1) comprising: determining means operable to determine an attribute of a communication
5 device; identifying means operable to identify an avatar by using the attribute, wherein the avatar is such that it conveys to a viewer thereof information about a person; and communicating means operable to communicate the avatar to the communication device in a virtual environment.